Local tennis pro is HOLDING ALL THE ACES

Thornhill's Milos Raonic returns a shot to France's Paul-Henri Mathieu in the second round of play at the 2012 U.S. Open tennis tournament on Thursday in New York. The hard-hitting 21-year-old defeated Mathieu 7-5, 6-4, 7-6 (4), firing 30 aces to advance to the tournament's third round for the first time in his career. He is also the first Canadian man to get this far in the event in 24 years. Story, page 41. KATHY WILLENS/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One woman to another

Dear Krista. Letter from sexual-assault victim results in apology after controversial tweet

Alice Moran was sexually assaulted while wearing a knee-length polka-dot dress, which she last donned for an Easter dinner at her grandma's — a place where, in her own words, she could make little to no money "whoring."

The reason we know this about Moran is because the 24-year-old Toronto comedian has publicly identified herself as one of the victims in a recent string of west-end sexual assaults. She spoke out Thursday in an open letter to Krista Ford, who was widely criticized after a tweet warning women to protect themselves from attacks by not dressing like "whores."

Moran posted the note — polite and comedic in tone — on her Facebook and Twitter accounts Thursday morning. It is addressed to "a lot of people, but specifically Ms. Krista Ford."

Daughter, friend

"I'm a regular person you would know. I'm the daughter of two parents who are freaking out. I'm the friend of a whole bunch of girls who are crying that this happened to me."

Alice Moran, the victim of a recent sexual assault in Toronto's west end

The letter quickly went viral.

In an interview, Moran said the letter was not intended as a personal attack on Ford — the daughter of Coun. Doug Ford and niece of the mayor — and she feels bad if it caused her undue anguish.

"I just feel like there's this pervasive attitude that we can talk about women in these kinds of terms, and it's unacceptable," she said.

The tweet that started it all followed a police warning about a recent string of six sexual assaults in the city.

Ford apologized later on Thursday, expressing her regret on Twitter: "I didn't mean to cause such an alarm and I apologize if I did. I just want women to be safe."

She did not respond to multiple interview requests, including voicemails left on her cellphone. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Condo living a viable option: Study

The price of condos like these at 18 Yonge St. is expected to rise by 2.5 per cent in 2013.
LUCAS OLENIUK/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

A new condo report suggests first-time buyers, retirees and population growth will continue to fuel demand and price growth for the compact living spaces over the next few years.

The study by Genworth Canada found that average condo resale prices are expected to rise next year in seven of the eight metropolitan centres studied. Prices in Toronto are projected to jump 2.5 per cent to $312,352. The highest increase however, is expected to be in Edmonton where prices could rise 3.2 per cent. Vancouver is the only city where condo prices are expected to drop, by two per cent to $348,152.

The report stands in contrast to warnings from economists and officials that the condo market in some hot markets is reaching bubble territory that could soon burst.

The Bank of Canada and federal Finance Minister Jim Flaherty have cautioned Canadians repeatedly to moderate borrowing on real estate, declaring household debt to be the domestic economy's number one enemy.

The central bank noted certain segments of the housing market that have a persistent oversupply — such as condos in Toronto — face a higher risk of a price correction.

Genworth — which earns revenue from selling mortgage insurance — notes that rising prices for single-detached homes are driving first-time buyers to condos, and retirees continue to prop up demand.

It suggests that the population is expected to grow, while employment growth and low interest rates should also support the market. "This data corroborates our view that the demand for condos in Canada, particularly at the price-point we insure, is well supported by our economy and our population," said Brian Hurley, chairman and CEO of Genworth Canada. "For those seeking to own a home affordably in urban centres, condos remain a good option." THE CANADIAN PRESS

The root of Rob Ford's conflict case

Ignored. Mayor shrugged off warnings from the integrity commissioner about seeking money from people actively pursuing city business

Mayor's actions

- Mayor Rob Ford ignored six requests for poof that he repaid $3,150 in improper donations
- Ford will be in court next Wednesday

Mayor Rob Ford is putting his job on the line defending the principle that a politician should be free to listen to a lobbyist's pitch, and then pitch the lobbyist on donating to a private charity.

While some have characterized the conflict of interest case as being about a few thousand dollars, or politicians being able to have charities, that's not what got him in hot water.

Integrity Commissioner Janet Leiper warned Ford informally in 2009, and later officially, to stop using council letterhead and city resources, to solicit funds for his private football foundation.

Her probe revealed that seven lobbyists donated to Ford's foundation between Aug. 31, 2009 and May 7, 2010 while also lobbying him. When Leiper raised a particular firm, Ford "denied knowing they were lobbyists, although he did admit he knew two of the individuals at the firm."

Also, a corporation that gave Ford's foundation $400 "has been the recipient of multi-million dollar contracts spanning 2009-2011, awarded by the city through its competitive bid process," Leiper wrote in 2010.

Markham arena on thin ice?

Graeme Roustan, right, chair of GTA Sports, and Markham Mayor Frank Scarpitti at a recent press conference for the Markham arena project. Critics now say a key element of Markham's financial plan to pay for half of its $325-million arena project could be resting on thin ice. A big chunk of the city's share of the NHL-size facility relies on developers paying an additional levy, which is not voluntary, and could open it to a legal challenge from developers. CARES

Behind bars to a full-time job

The last stop on the road to hell was a few pale yellow rooms above a furniture and mattress store in Scarborough.

When David Atkinson walked into the Centre for Addiction, Recovery and Employment Services (CARES), he had lost count of how often he had been in and out of jail — at least 25.

"I was a bad kid, a very troubled person," he said.

Atkinson signed up for preparation courses for the General Education Development (GED) tests at the centre on Eglinton Avenue East, near Markham Road.

Then he landed in prison again. And again.

CARES kept a place for him. And in June 2009, Atkinson got his high school equivalency certificate. Three years later, he is a second-year apprentice steamfitter with a full-time job. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

TIFF 2012 presents rebel tales by restless Canadians

Sept. 6-16. At this year's fest, Canadian filmmakers are intent on breaking rules

In this Sept. 24, 1988, file photo, Canada's Ben Johnson gestures after setting a world record for the men's 100-metre and winning a gold medal at the Seoul Summer Olympics. TIFF doc 9.79* probes Johnson's 1988 Olympics disgrace. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS FILE

In Sarah Polley's Stories We Tell, one of the standout films of TIFF 2012, her father Michael sits before a microphone and camera, preparing to discuss shocking family secrets.

"It's not the normal way of doing it, is it?" he says.

He's not kidding, and he's not alone. At this 37th edition of the Toronto International Film Festival, which runs Sept. 6-16, Canadian filmmakers seem intent on breaking as many rules as possible.

There's a rebel spirit filtering through the 20 Canadian features and 47 Canadian shorts screening at TIFF 2012, as seen not only in the actions of on-screen characters but also in the intent of filmmakers.

Perceptions, assumptions and received truths are under attack or up for debate, as their titles alone suggest: films like Rebelle and Revolution and I Declare War.

The stories behind Canadian headlines are revealed to be more nuanced than first thought, in docs such as 9.79*, which probes sprinter Ben Johnson's 1988 Olympics disgrace, and Show Stoppers, which turns the floodlights on showman Garth Drabinsky's fall from grace.

And when it comes to speaking the truth, nothing this year can top Stories We Tell, Polley's personal documentary that is as direct as a blood transfusion. Seeking definitive answers for long-whispered family rumours, the Toronto actor and filmmaker sets out to interview Polley family members and friends, some of whom really don't want to talk.

What Polley discovered, and brings to the documentary screen through archival footage, dramatic re-enactments and almost surreal cross-cutting between personal testimonies, has had a profound impact on her life and those of many others.

Polley's revelations — which qualify as spoilers for anyone desiring the film's full impact — became a news story this week after Stories We Tell screened for critics in Toronto and Venice, in advance of its premieres at two major film festivals. That same day, Polley posted a blog entry at NFB.ca explaining why she's kept mum until now.

She didn't want to make a conventional documentary, instead choosing a non-linear narrative that demands greater reflection. She wasn't even sure she wanted to make the film at all. But she persisted.

"Making this film was the hardest thing I've ever done," wrote Polley, who previously wrote and directed two dramatic features, Away From Her and Take This Waltz.

"It took five years and tormented me. I didn't want to make it, and I wanted to give up many times along the way, but I also didn't want this story to be out there in the words of someone other than the many people who lived it."

Another uncompromising Canadian is Toronto's Rob Stewart, who follows his feature debut Sharkwater from five years ago with Revolution, taking his underwater environmentalist crusade further afield.

This time, he's not just out to save vanishing shark species, but all marine life, which constitutes 80 per cent of life of Earth. He travels the globe with his waterproof camera, capturing spectacular imagery that he uses to try to goad governments into taking action.

He's angry that Canada hasn't lived up to its official pro-environment stance. Canada signed the Kyoto Accord on reducing greenhouse gases, but hasn't lived up to it. "Canada is one of the worst countries on environmental issues out there," Stewart says.

Quebec auteur Denis Côté uses almost total silence to make a similar indictment of how people treat the natural world. In Bestiaire, he visits a Quebec safari park, where his documentary lens reveals how stares of curiosity and indifference flash between both sides of the cage.

Equally inspired by a medieval picture book and by our chronic disrespect for the natural world, Côté's film insists it's our minds that are caged.

Rejecting convention

- Steve Gravestock, TIFF's head of Canadian programming, says he can see rebellion even in the way directors are constructing their films. Many are rejecting three-act structures, linear narratives and complicated productions. "It's a minimalist movement," he said.
- "You can see it across Canada, but it's centred in Toronto particularly," he said. "Films like Tower and Krivina take a more formalist approach, which isn't that different from Denis Côté's feature films."

Has reality TV gone too far this time?

Sarrah and Victor are a young couple featured in a pilot episode of the Slice show My Teenage Wedding, which is currently casting in Canada. CONTRIBUTED

After allowing viewers to gape at the excesses of the rich bride, support the frugality of the poor bride, and cheer the weight loss of the bulging bride, reality TV is dishing up a new twist to televised nuptials — brace yourself for the teen bride.

Slice is currently casting in Canada for My Teenage Wedding, a series that has raised eyebrows among some parents who worry the show may be cashing in on the vulnerabilities of young love and could negatively impact youth audiences.

But those behind the series say the show is more of a social documentary that could even serve as a conversation starter for parents worried about their teens' relationships.

Nonetheless, the series, which will air next winter, concerns 38-year-old mother Gabrielle Domingues, who saw a notice about the show's casting call.

"I just think it's borderline inappropriate," she said of the youth-focused reality show. "It's one thing to show adults in that light ... and another to show minors exposing their mistakes and their vulnerabilities at such a raw and impressionable age, and by association making an impression and influencing youth who are watching."

The proliferation of youth-focused reality shows makes the self-described pop culture junkie from Toronto wonder how much media attention her 10-year-old will want as he grows up, particularly since he already enjoys making YouTube videos with his family.

"Because they see themselves reflected back on the screen, a lot of kids now do think 'I could do that, I could be on that show,'" she said. "As a parent, I can teach my children what's appropriate and what's not ... You need to have a dialogue."

Those behind My Teenage Wedding say the show is a way to start that conversation if a parent is concerned about their child's relationships or the impact reality shows might have.

"It actually gives them a vehicle and a reason to bring it up," said Christine Shipton, vice-president of original content at Shaw Media — Slice's parent company — who notes she hasn't heard any parental concerns from the airing of four pilot episodes in the spring.

"If this is a point of view that you're concerned is affecting your kids in a negative way, you need to talk to them about it." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cold case. Police looking for scoop on stolen ice cream mascot suit

It was a typical Saturday night for Mr. Ice Cream Head Man as he rested his fibreglass cone beside a backyard pool in Mississauga.

Then, disaster struck.

A thief broke into the backyard and took off with the permanently grinning Dairy Queen mascot, fleeing into the warm summer night.

The next morning, a neighbour found the decapitated cone lying down the street on Fiona Terrace. The second piece of the costume — the ice cream head — is still missing.

"Well, the one thing about it is that it won't melt," joked John Pielechaty, the costume's owner. For now, a cone of silence surrounds the case.

But thieves be warned: Pielechaty, 72, is a retired RCMP detective, and he plans on getting the scoop on the whereabouts of his faux-frozen friend.

John Pielechaty's cone had its ice cream swirl stolen. He was re-conditioning the old promotional cone for a friend's business. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

He started by putting up signs around his neighbourhood.

"It pisses me off," Pielechaty said. "Stealing is a crime. I feel violated."

Pielechaty bought Mr. Ice Cream Head Man, who has holes for arms and legs, when he owned a Dairy Queen in Toronto. Pielechaty left the ice cream business 10 years ago, but says he used to dress up in the six-foot fibreglass costume to attract customers on hot summer days.

Mayor wants you to come to his party

Backyard barbecue.
Ford invites 'whole city' to annual backyard Ford Fest, at his mom's place

Mayor Rob Ford is going to need a lot of hamburgers.

He invited the "whole city" to his annual Ford Fest party in his mother's Etobicoke backyard during a radio interview with Newstalk1010 on Tuesday.

Ford said they usually have the barbecue on a Sunday, but this year's barbecue will be on Friday, Sept. 7.

There will be hot dogs, hamburgers, beer, pop and even pony rides for kids, the mayor added.

"We'll have a great time," he said.

When asked how many people he can fit in the backyard, Ford said the event draws "close to 5,000 people."

"People come and go, so it's not all at one time," the mayor said.

Accepting the offer

When Lauren Ash and her friends heard that Ford invited everyone in Toronto to his barbecue, they immediately decided they would attend.

- Ash saw the open invitation as a good opportunity for members of the LGBT community to meet the mayor, who has "been too busy to attend our events," and talk to him about issues in their community.
- "We don't want anyone to cause any trouble," Ash said. "We want to be respectful. This is his private property ... we just want to show up as invited guests."

Obama has failed on his promises over the past four years: Romney

Republican National Convention. Stage set for presidential candidate Mitt Romney to kick-start campaign

Republican presidential candidate Mitt Romney, in the most critical speech in his campaign for the White House, sought to persuade a television audience of millions that he, not Barack Obama, was the best hope to lift the struggling U.S. economy and "restore the promise of America."

Romney's speech accepting his party's nomination is the climax of the three-day Republican National Convention and a milestone in his long, often rocky quest for the presidency. He will claim the honour he was denied when John McCain won the nomination four years ago.

This year, he had to fend off a series of Republican challengers, questions about his shifting positions and mutterings about his Mormon religion.

Polls show Romney and Obama in a dead heat with the economy the biggest issue in the campaign. The United States is struggling with 8.3 per cent unemployment and the slowest economic recovery in decades.

Romney was planning to note the excitement Obama's candidacy generated four year ago and say he hasn't delivered on his promise of "hope and change."

"You know there's something wrong with the kind of job he's done as president when the best feeling you had was the day you voted for him," he said in excerpts released ahead of the speech.

Killer of mother, daughter demands freedom for Pussy Riot

Two women who were stabbed to death were found under this sign in the central Russian city of Kazan on Thursday. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The bodies of an elderly woman and her daughter were found in Russia beneath a scrawled message demanding freedom for the jailed members of the Pussy Riot band, officials said Thursday.

While a Russian investigator cautioned that the killer was possibly trying to mislead police by drawing attention to the punk provocateurs, the alleged link between a killer and anti-Putin protesters was immediately seized upon by Russian media and pro-Kremlin publicists.

Three members of the band were sentenced this month to two years in prison for a February "punk prayer" performance in Moscow's main cathedral entreating the Virgin Mary to save Russia from Vladimir Putin, who at the time was on the verge of winning a new term as Russian president.

An official of the Russian Orthodox Church on Thursday said supporters of the band bear a moral responsibility for the gruesome killings in the city of Kazan.

"This blood is on the conscience of the so-called public, which supported the participants in the action in Christ the Savior Cathedral, because the result is that people with unstable mentality got carte blanche," said Archpriest Dmitry Smirnov, the church's envoy to law enforcement agencies, the Interfax news agency reported.

Some publications ran headlines claiming that Pussy Riot supporters "committed" or "inspired" a double homicide.

The coverage was full of the mostly negative terms used by Kremlin-friendly television networks and media in their coverage of the protesters' trial.

'Horrendous provocation'

The trial, widely seen as Kremlin-orchestrated, caused an international furor, with celebrities such as Paul McCartney urging Russian authorities to free the band.

- The jailed band members' attorney said on Twitter that "what happened in Kazan is horrible," calling the case "either a horrendous provocation or a psychopathic" case.

Theatre shooting. Prosecutors would need to prove suspect is sane if he pleads insanity

Prosecutors wanting to prove that a gunman methodically carried out last month's Colorado theatre shooting that left 12 people dead and wounded 58 have a difficult task: If James Holmes pleads not guilty by reason of insanity, they must prove he is sane.

A court hearing Thursday will examine his relationship with a University of Colorado psychiatrist to whom he mailed a package containing a notebook that reportedly contains violent descriptions of an attack.

His attorneys say Holmes is mentally ill and that he sought help from psychiatrist Lynne Fenton at the school, where he was a Ph.D. student, until shortly before the July 20 shooting. Prosecutors allege Holmes may have been angry at the failure of a once promising academic career.

Records released Thursday show the director of the University of Iowa graduate program in neuroscience told colleagues in a January 2011 email that they were not to offer admission to Holmes "under any circumstances." A second professor agreed.

The professors did not elaborate on their reasons in the emails.

Unlike most other states where the defence needs to prove insanity, prosecutors in Colorado are the ones who have to show that a defendant is sane — without the ability of having their own experts examine Holmes.

Suspect says beard is nod to Muslim faith

The U.S. army psychiatrist charged in a deadly shooting rampage told a judge Thursday that he grew a beard because his Muslim faith requires it, not as a show of disrespect.

Maj. Nidal Hasan spoke in court for the first time since showing up with a beard in violation of army regulations in June. The judge, Col. Gregory Gross, has threatened to have him forcibly shaved. His lawyers argue that shaving would violate his religious freedoms.

"In the name of almighty Allah, I am a Muslim," Hasan said. "I believe my religion requires me to wear a beard."

Hasan faces the death penalty if convicted in the November 2009 attack that killed 13 and wounded more than two dozen at a Texas army post.

The pretrial hearing was the first since a military appeals court stopped proceedings Aug. 15 to consider the dispute over Hasan's beard. Gross held Hasan in contempt of court and fined him $1,000 for a sixth time Thursday, again sending him to a nearby room to watch the proceedings on closed-circuit television.

Gross said he will order a forcible shaving next week. According to military regulations, soldiers who disobey orders to be clean-shaven can be forcibly shaved.

Death penalty sought for 3 accused U.S. soldiers

Soldiers in shackles. A 4th soldier said couple was led into woods; she was shot before getting out of car, he was forced to kneel, then shot in the head

Georgia prosecutors will seek the death penalty against three army soldiers accused of killing a former serviceman and his girlfriend to protect an anti-government militia group, officials said Thursday during tense court hearings in which one victim's stepfather was tackled and handcuffed as he tried to rush the defence table.

Pvt. Isaac Aguigui, Pvt. Christopher Salmon and Sgt. Anthony Peden — all active-duty soldiers stationed at Fort Stewart — are each charged with 13 counts including malice murder, felony murder and illegal gang activity in the Dec. 4 slayings.

The victims, former soldier Michael Roark and his 17-year-old girlfriend, Tiffany York, were shot in the head in the woods near Fort Stewart in the U.S. state of Georgia. Fishermen found their bodies a day later.

The case took a stunning turn at an earlier hearing Monday when prosecutors told a Superior Court judge the accused soldiers belonged to an anti-government militia operating within the U.S. military that had stockpiled at least $87,000 worth of guns and bomb components. They said the group had a range of plans — from bombing a park fountain in nearby Savannah to poisoning apple crops in the state of Washington — and its ultimate goal was to overthrow the U.S. government and assassinate the president.

Wesley Thomas, the stepfather of Tiffany York, is tackled by courtroom security while rushing at Sgt. Anthony Peden during Peden's hearing at Long County Superior Court, Thursday, in Ludowici, Ga. Prosecutors are seeking the death penalty for three soldiers accused in the murder of Thomas' stepdaughter and her boyfriend.

Download speeds like you've never seen before.

WIRELESS LTE

We were first to launch the lightning-like speeds of LTE in Canada – the fastest wireless network technology on the planet. With LTE you can download a song or a photo in under a second.[1] So buckle up; the fastest-ever mobile internet speeds are now here.

CABLE HI-SPEED

We were also first to launch cable Hi-Speed internet in North America. And now we've increased our top speeds by 50%. Clocking in at a blistering 75 Mbps,[2] that means only Rogers gives you the fastest internet that's available in the most homes.[3] The result? You can download an entire movie within a dizzying 90 seconds.[1] Record-setting speeds like that have to be experienced to be believed.

So what's next? If you're with Rogers, you'll be the first to know.

War resister living in T.O. Faces deportation to U.S.

Canada Border Services Agency has ruled that an American soldier who has been living in Toronto because she didn't want to serve in Iraq must return to the U.S.

The War Resisters Support Campaign says the agency has told Kimberly Rivera she must leave Canada by Sept. 20.

Michelle Robidoux, a spokeswoman for the War Resisters Support Campaign, says border services notified Rivera of the decision on Thursday.

Robidoux says that means the agency does not believe Rivera's claims that she will face harsh penalties if she is deported to the U.S.

However, there is still no decision on Rivera's humanitarian compassionate grounds claim.

Rivera, the first female U.S. war resister, fled to Canada in 2007 to avoid further military service.

She had initially arrived while on leave but then applied for refugee status.

The War Resisters Support Campaign says two other Iraq war resisters who were deported, Robin Long and Clifford Cornell, faced year-long jail sentences upon their return.

Rivera lives in Toronto with her husband and four children.

Robidoux says Rivera is meeting with her lawyer today to discuss her options.

Rivera did not comment on the ruling but is to hold a news conference Friday morning.

Wisconsin. Sikh priest still in coma since shootings at a temple

A Sikh priest has remained in a coma since the shooting rampage at a Wisconsin temple earlier this month that wounded him and three others and left six victims dead.

In their first public comments since the Aug. 5 attack, Punjab Singh's sons described how they rushed from India to be with their father after the shooting and have spent most of their waking hours at his hospital bedside in Milwaukee.

"It's hard, but we are just trusting in God now," his older son, Raghuvinder Singh said on Wednesday.

The elder Singh was wounded when a gunman with ties to a white supremacy group opened fire at the Sikh Temple of Wisconsin. The gunman killed himself. Raghuvinder Singh, 44, his mother and 29-year-old brother, Jaspreet Singh, heard about the shooting in India and rushed to be by Punjab Singh's side.

They arrived in the U.S. on Aug. 11, Punjab Singh's 65th birthday. The soft-spoken brothers smiled as they shared stories of their father, a man they describe as deeply religious and passionate about clothing poor children. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Singh was in a bedroom at the temple that morning. When he heard gunfire he tried to barricade himself in the room, but the gunman apparently forced the door open and reached his handgun inside and shot Singh in the face as he hid.

Amish bishop accused of forcing women into sex

Ohio. Bishop on trial for hate crimes said to have told women sex with him would make them better wives

An Amish bishop accused of orchestrating hair-cutting attacks in Ohio forced women at his settlement to have sex with him so he could turn them into better wives, one of the women testified Thursday.

The woman said what started out as hugs turned into kisses and then sex. She said she resisted at first.

"He would say things like 'I can't understand why you won't obey me, the other ladies can,'" the woman testified. "I always gave up. I was afraid not to."

Prosecutors say the alleged sexual "counselling" of married women shows the control Samuel Mullet Sr. had over followers at the Amish settlement he founded two decades ago.

The 16 people accused of carrying out the hair-cutting attacks last fall all lived on Mullet's settlement in eastern Ohio near the West Virginia panhandle.

The government contends that the hair cutting was motivated by a religious dispute between Mullet and other Amish bishops who sought to limit his authority. Those accused targeted hair because of its spiritual significance. The judge told jurors that Mullet was not charged with sex crimes and they could only consider the testimony as it relates to charges in the indictment.

One woman said her husband had a mental breakdown in the summer of 2008 and was in the hospital when Mullet suggested that her husband's trouble stemmed from dissatisfaction with his marriage.

Mullet told her he wanted to help the couple with marriage counselling, and she agreed to his request to move in with him, she said.

At first, he wanted hugs, from her she said, adding that she learned he had asked the same of other women.

"Next we had to kiss him or maybe we had to sit on his lap," she said. "I'm not sure what was first."

Even asking for a hug was a startling request, she said, in a community that values modesty and is deeply religious.

Amish women in the most conservative churches traditionally wear long dresses, bonnets over their hair and frown upon drawing attention to themselves.

She went along with Mullet's wishes because she thought it would help her husband, she said. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

U.K. Despite NIMBYism, Harry Potter author's tree houses get council's OK

For the kids. Proposed design includes conical roofs 12 metres high, turreted windows, spiral staircase and trap door

J.K. Rowling HANDOUT

J.K. Rowling is building two tree houses fit for a wizard.

Despite some complaints from neighbours, the City of Edinburgh Council said Thursday it has approved the Harry Potter author's application to create the large tree houses in her garden for her children.

The structures, each about 12 metres high, feature tall conical roofs and turreted windows in the style of Hogwarts Castle in the Harry Potter movies.

Artist impressions submitted to the council show that they will be built on wooden stilts and are connected by a rope bridge. Other features included are lanterns above the doors, a spiral staircase, balconies, a trap door, and a steel slide.

Several neighbours had written to object, saying the tree-houses may be visible from the road through a gap in the conifers that shield the development and could affect the area's landscape.

But the council granted Rowling's request, saying the development will not have a negative impact on the conservation area.

Rowling, 47, lives in a 17th-century mansion in an Edinburgh suburb with her husband and three children.

Message tossed out to sea found nearly a century later

A message in a bottle discovered by fisherman Andrew Leaper sets a new world record for the length of time spent at sea, beating the previous record by more than five years. The bottle was cast into the sea in 1914 as part of a government experiment to map the undercurrents of the seas around Scotland, and it has turned up nearly 98 years later in a net during a fishing mission east of the Shetland Islands off Scotland's northern coast.

Former lacrosse player sentenced in beating death

Drunken rage. Troubled relationship of two senior varsity athletes turns tragic after violent confrontation

A former University of Virginia lacrosse player who killed his ex-girlfriend in a drunken rage was sentenced Thursday to 23 years in prison, slightly less than what a jury recommended.

George W. Huguely V was sentenced for the slaying of 22-year-old Yeardley Love, who was found face down in her blood-soaked pillow on May 3, 2010. Authorities said the 24-year-old defendant left his on-again, off-again girlfriend to die after he kicked a hole in her bedroom door and physically confronted her about their sputtering relationship.

Police said he had been drinking heavily that day.

Quoted

"Unlike Miss Love, Mr. Huguely still has the majority of his life ahead of him"

U.S. Circuit Judge Edward Hogshire said while delivering his decision on the beating death of 22-year-old Yeardley Love.

A jury found Huguely guilty in February of second-degree murder and grand larceny. The defence had asked for a 14-year sentence.

Circuit Judge Edward Hogshire reduced the jury's recommended 26-year sentence by three years.

Huguely and Love, both seniors and varsity lacrosse players at U of Virginia, had a volatile relationship that spiraled into the deadly confrontation. Huguely denied inflicting the fatal injuries Love suffered, saying she banged her head against her bedroom wall.

A coroner concluded Love died of blunt-force trauma.

Twin satellites rocket to place others avoid

NASA. The American satellites will explore Earth's two dangerous radiation belts full of high-energy particles from the cosmos

Twin U.S. satellites rocketed into orbit Thursday on a quest to explore Earth's treacherous radiation belts and protect the planet from solar outbursts.

It's the first time two spacecraft are flying in tandem amid the punishing radiation belts, brimming with highly charged particles capable of wrecking satellites and endangering astronauts.

"We're going to a place that other missions try to avoid, and we need to live there for two years. That's one of our biggest challenges," said Richard Fitzgerald, project manager for Johns Hopkins.

These new satellites, shielded with thick aluminum, are designed to withstand an onslaught of cosmic rays for the next two years.

Scientists expect the $686-million mission to shed light on how the sun affects the Van Allen radiation belts, named after the astrophysicist who discovered them a half-century ago.

Earth's two doughnut-shaped radiation belts are full of high-energy particles from the sun and elsewhere in the cosmos, trapped by Earth's magnetic field.

Normally, the belts remain well above the International Space Station and low-flying satellites.

But they can expand during solar storms into the paths of orbiting spacecraft.

The storms can cripple satellites.

Jupiter-bound NASA craft manoeuvre

A Jupiter-bound spacecraft prepared to fire its engine Thursday for an important manoeuvre intended to bring it back toward Earth.

The engine burn was the first of two planned to set up NASA's Juno spacecraft to use Earth's gravity to accelerate it toward the outer solar system. The second engine firing will occur next week.

Launched last year, Juno is zooming toward an encounter with the giant gas planet in 2016.

Canada's Big 5 bank big bucks in third quarter

High five.
Shareholders receive significant dividends from record-high earnings despite conservative estimates

Canada's biggest banks posted a stunning $7.8 billion of cumulative profit in the third quarter, as consumers maintained their borrowing habits and domestic banking results propped up weakness in other divisions.

The performance left analysts' restrained predictions in the dust, marking an increase of 45 per cent from net income of $5.38 billion a year ago.

All five banks delivered a surprise boost to their dividends paid to shareholders. Royal Bank also boasted that its profits rose 73 per cent to a new record high.

It was quite a contrast from concerns that lending would subside during the period, while banks looked for ways to cut their costs. But several analysts say they're not convinced these bombastic results are sustainable into next year.

Royal Bank's record profits amounted to $2.24 billion, or $1.47 per share. That compared with earnings of $1.29 billion or 83 cents per share in the year-earlier period.

TD reported profits of $1.7 billion, or $1.78 per share, from $1.49 billion or $1.58 a share a year ago.

Its domestic personal and commercial banking posted a record quarter, with reported net income of $864 million.

Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce profit rose by 42 per cent in the quarter to $841 million, or $2 per share, compared with $591 million, or $1.33 a share, for the same period last year.

Earlier this week, Bank of Montreal raised its dividend for the first time since 2007, boosting it 2.8 per cent to 72 cents a share, on profits of $970 million.

Scotiabank increased its quarterly dividend 3.6 per cent to 57 cents per share on $2.05 billion of profit. Several divisions improved performance and the bank also benefited from an after-tax gain of $614 million from the sale of its Bay Street headquarters, Scotia Plaza.

Scotiabank announced Wednesday that it is buying ING Bank of Canada from its Dutch parent company in a $3.13-billion deal.

ON THIS HARVEST MOON

THE LIST
Neil Morton
Metro

1 Snooki has a baby. The Jersey Shore reality star delivered a baby boy Sunday. Snooki's rep confirmed the good news, "The world just got another Guido!!! Lorenzo Dominic LaValle has entered the world weighing 6 lb., 5 oz. Nicole, Jionni & Enzo are doing great!" If you were disheartened by the news that MTV is cancelling the show after this season, remember you can still watch humanity regress in the spinoff series Snooki & JWoww.

2 NBC's gaffe. If it wasn't bad enough that many on Twitter were asking who Neil Armstrong was after he passed away, NBC topped it big time: They made this huge headline mistake on their website announcing the astronaut's death: "Astronaut Neil Young, first man to walk on moon, dies at age 82." Here's hoping the person's boss who wrote that display copy has a Heart of Gold.

3 Superman and Wonder Woman. DC Comics has revealed a new romantic storyline, as Superman is now hooking up with Wonder Woman! Yes, it's been revealed that a Justice League comic will feature a romance between the two comic book icons after a passionate embrace in Justice League Issue #12. Forget Brangelina, this is the new power couple.

4 Fake Lady Gaga followers! A study by social media company Status People reveals that up to 71 per cent of Lady Gaga's nearly 29 million Twitter followers are either inactive or have been created by spamming computers known as "bots." While these fakes don't impact her status as an international pop sensation, it does mean that I have a chance to catch her now. @neilmorton versus @ladygaga, this is back on!

5 Will.i.am on Mars. Holy intergalactic! The Black Eyed Peas star partnered with NASA to play his new song, Reach for the Stars, through the speakers of the Curiosity rover live from Mars. That's about a 530-million-kilometre round trip for the music, which was beamed back to the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in California. One day a rover will hit Jupiter and beam Train's Drops of Jupiter to my house.

6 Newfoundland sinking? Memorial University geography professor Norm Catto, an expert in coastline erosion, says the island of Newfoundland is sinking by a rate of about 3.5 millimetres a year. But relax, that only equates to about 30 centimetres in 100 years. If I live for 100 years, I figure that's about how much I will sink as well. But hey, we'll both still be around.

7 The Boss. Ten-year-old Halle Tator from Thornill, Ont., had the thrill of a lifetime when Bruce Springsteen had her up on stage during his Toronto concert at Rogers Centre and let her sing Waitin' on a Sunny Day. The Boss spotted young Halle holding a sign that read: "It's my first show. I'm waiting on a sunny day." A real life Courteney Cox-esque Dancing in the Dark moment!

8 Photobombed! A new book, Photobombed! Making Bad Pictures Great and Good Pictures Awesomely Bad, presents the first collection of one of the top humour memes on the web: the photobomb! So if you spot some dude making funny faces in a nice picture you took, you can now take solace by getting this picture book. And get your own ideas for the art of a great revenge photobomb.

9 The naked truth. People are showing support for Harry's naked display in Vegas by posting their naked pictures to a Facebook group called Support Prince Harry with a Naked Salute (#salute4harry). The guidelines: "Please cover your crown jewels, tag yourself in your photo as proof of your support to the nations favourite Royal!" Greatest Harry naked support group ever! With a source coming forward saying the photo is just the tip of the iceberg, I wonder if support for Harry's debauchery will ... shrink.

10 DJ Cruise. Seems Tom Cruise's 17-year-old son Connor Cruise (he was adopted by Tom and Nicole Kidman) is becoming a serious DJ after touring hot spots throughout Europe. Connor, a.k.a. DJ Ranger Rick, has made a name for himself in the U.S. but this was his first trip across the pond. DJ Paris Hilton, watch out.

11 Reality stars hit Edmonton. Officials with Travel Alberta say the $20,000 spent on bringing former Bachelorette stars Ashley and J.P. to Edmonton is worth the cost. The couple went to the Edmonton Fringe Festival, visited the Art Gallery of Alberta and chowed down at local eateries. Now Edmonton sounds like a rosy place, but a reality show couple visiting there doesn't give me incentive to visit.

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Look what you missed while at the cottage ...

Summer roundup. Crouse and Breslin reflect on the best and worst films of sunshine season

Richard: Mark, I bet Taylor Kitsch started the year thinking he'd be a Brad-Pitt-sized star by Christmas. He had three big-budget movies coming out, two in the high real estate summer season alone. Too bad those movies were John Carter, Battleship and Savages, two of which are considered emblematic of everything that's wrong with Hollywood blockbusters. His failure to launch this summer is one of those career misfires that can be hard to come back from, but he's talented (and Canadian) so I hope he gets another chance. What caught your eye this summer?

MB: Speaking of hunks, if anyone told me Robert Pattinson would star in one of my favourite movies of the summer, I would have thought they were crazy. But I thought David Cronenberg's Cosmopolis was a masterpiece — a frigid, talky flick that plays like a grad thesis, but a masterpiece nevertheless. What's your take on it, Richard?

RC: I really liked Cosmopolis but the thing that really tickled me was the idea of tween Twilight fans sneaking in and having their minds blown. Pattinson's prostate exam was probably the stuff of a few fan's nightmares... or dreams. More accessible was Lola Versus with Greta Gerwig. Natural and funny, for me this was the summer's little movie that could.

MB: Loved Lola Versus! It's the movie Woody Allen might have made if he were 30 today. I was never a Greta Gerwig fan until this movie but it felt like it was written just for her. Now, how about People Like Us? A rare movie about brother/sisterly love. I cried at the last scene and could not leave the theatre.

RC: Ha! I hope you didn't get any of those tears on your dress. I'm kidding. It is a touching movie, and one that not enough people saw. I'll close out my look back at the unsung heroes of the summer with Killer Joe. If there ever was a definition of a movie that was not for everyone, this is it, but for lovers of dark — and I mean darker than a moonless night — thrillers, this is tops. Have you seen it?

MB: Yes, it's excellent, especially Matthew McCaughney's performance. I don't think I'll ever eat another piece of fried chicken, though. Another movie I loved this summer was The Intouchables, a French entry about the improbable friendship between a rich quadriplegic and his thuggish caregiver. The least likely comedy ever, but it works.

Synopsis

Technically summer ends on September 21, but for the Reel Guys the silly season is over the day the Toronto Film Festival guidebook comes out. From that point on they pack away memories of air conditioning movies and begin prep for Oscar season. This week Richard and Mark wistfully look back at the season that gave us 94 days of popcorn and fun flicks.

Canadian FX legend gets evil all over again

Resident Evil. Special effects makeup craftsman Paul Jones talks about creating Nazi zombie bikers

CHRIS ALEXANDER
scene@metronews.ca

Director Paul Anderson's Resident Evil films, based on the juggernaut same-named Capcom videogames, have long traded in the macabre, filled as they are with hordes of flesh eating zombies, undead Dobermans and hulking monsters of every perverse persuasion.

And even though the series' central force, actress Milla Jovovich (also writer/director Anderson's wife), is perhaps their greatest special effect, the man assigned the task of designing the mind bending horrors her high-kicking heroine Alice must battle is Canadian special makeup effects craftsman, Paul Jones.

The English-born Jones has been in the business for almost 25 years, getting his start with FX legend Bob Keen on pictures like like The Unholy, Hellraiser II and Nightbreed but has since become something of an icon in his own right with his work on Bride of Chucky, Silent Hill and now, the fifth in the Evil franchise, Resident Evil: Retribution 3D.

"You look at Paul Anderson's resume, and it's like, every fun movie ever made, he's done," says Jones from his east end Toronto studio.

"He cares more about makeup than any other director I've ever worked with. Retribution is my third time working with Paul and there's a shorthand there now."

Jones designed the monsters and makeup for the second, non-Anderson directed film Apocalypse and the fourth picture, Afterlife as well, but the more abstract Retribution proved to be an even more imaginative and challenging experience.

Quoted

"The only thing that would stop the series, well, is Milla, really."

Special effects makeup artist Paul Jones on the creative possibilities of the Resident Evil franchise

In it, Alice finds herself deep in the bowels of the evil Umbrella Corporation, trying to escape a series of harrowing simulated universes ripe with giant eyeless monsters, hammer swinging executioners, Japanese zombies and most eerily, an army of motorcycle riding Nazi zombie bikers.

"That's the thing people forget, they think zombie they think risen from grave and in Resident Evil that's not necessarily true," says Jones.

"You get infected, you get mutated which as an effects artist, gives you options. That's why I'm not daunted when I get a Resident Evil script because you know you're not going to have to beat The Walking Dead, which you couldn't anyway because they're the best zombie makeups ever done. Resident Evil has its own beat."

Jones' 3D tweaked handiwork can also be seen this season in the upcoming Silent Hill: Revelations, also produced by the Resident Evil team of Samuel Hadida and Don Carmody. But in the meantime, Anderson's hugely popular films are not set to stop with this fifth entry and why would they? They're incredibly popular and as Jones' concurs, there's still so many places to take them creatively.

"There's no stopping the series," he says. "The possibilities of what we can do are limitless. The only thing that would stop the series, well, is Milla, really."

Horror

The Possession

Director. Old Bornedal

Stars. Natasha Calis, Jeffrey Dean Morgan, Kyra Sedgwick

Based on an allegedly true story about divorced parents (Jeffrey Dean Morgan and Kyra Sedgwick), their daughter (Natasha Calis) and the evil spirit that takes over her body after she buys a mysterious box at a yard sale, The Possession doesn't feel like a modern horror film. It's a throwback to a time when horror movies relied on creepy whispers and shadows rather than special effects for the scares. Mostly it works — there's good atmosphere and some tense moments — but gaping plot holes let a lot of the air out of the story.

RICHARD CROUSE

Comedy

For A Good Time, Call...

Director. Jamie Travis

Stars. Lauren Miller, Ari Graynor

Two New York girls feeling the financial squeeze start up a profitable phone-sex line in Jamie Travis' winning comedy, which is gross and affectionate in equal measure. It's like a Judd Apatow movie where the women are actually allowed to be funny, instead of frantic killjoys. Stars Lauren Miller and Ari Graynor have a lovely rapport and pull off snappy line readings and broad physical gags with aplomb; the plot is predictable but the cast's good vibes are contagious.

ADAM NAYMAN

Documentary

In My Mother's Arms

Director. Atea Al Daradji, Mohamed Al Daradji

Stars. Saif Husham

Saif Husham runs a private Baghdad orphanage for children who lost their parents in the war. Many are traumatized and live with serious behavioural and emotional problems. Husham's heart breaks for these kids, as they face eviction and an uncaring government. It's an eye-opener for entitled first world types to see how others struggle to live in uncertainty with nothing but spirit and memories of having once been safe in their mothers' arms.

Reality TV and pregnant women — a sure-fire hit?

The new reality series I'm Having Their Baby follows pregnant women struggling with a big decision — keep their baby or give it up? — and couples hoping to adopt if the mother chooses not to keep the child. On Friday's show, Claudia is worried about her future after getting pregnant with a man who has six children with four women. (Slice)

A meat lover's paradise

Another new reality show, Meat Men, should be appetizing for carnivores. Pat LaFrieda, Jr., also known as the "Magician of Meat," is famous in New York culinary circles and he invites the cameras behind the scenes to talk steak and burgers on Friday. (Food Network)

Canadian-made Oscar winner on deck for Saturday

Quebec director Denys Arcand won an Oscar with Les Invasions Barbares, which won the best foreign language Academy Award in 2004 and airs Saturday. A terminally ill man faces his family and old friends — characters introduced in Arcand's previous film Le Déclin de l'empire américain — as he nears death. (Global)

A true simian story

Project Nim is a fascinating documentary about a baby chimpanzee who was raised like a human child in New York in the 1970s. The film is directed by James Marsh, who also helmed the acclaimed documentary Man on Wire, and airs Saturday. (HBO Canada)

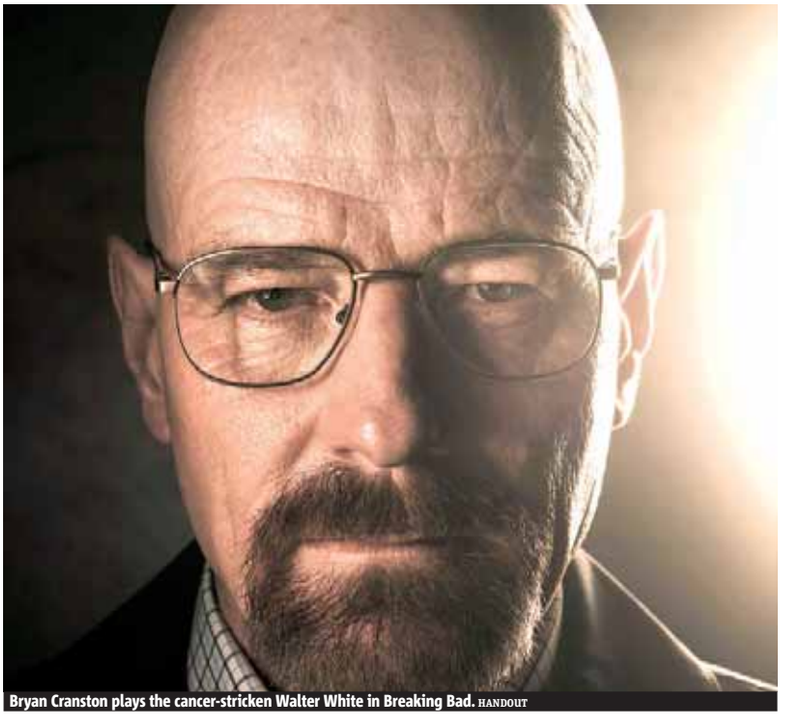
'It's going to come to a horrible end'

TV. Hit show's star Bryan Cranston speculates on how Breaking Bad will finish

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News in Hollywood



Bryan Cranston plays the cancer-stricken Walter White in Breaking Bad. HANDOUT

With the end of Breaking Bad drawing near — the final eight episodes of the critically acclaimed drama will air next year — speculation is running rampant about how the story will conclude.

And star Bryan Cranston has some ideas about what will happen to Walter White, his cancer-suffering high school teacher turned meth-dealing crime lord — namely, he could very well kick the bucket.

"Maybe the guy who has created all this toxic waste around him, maybe that's the happy ending. Maybe that he needs to die to make it happy," Cranston says.

Cranston is quick to point out, though, that this is all speculation on his part, since the final episodes haven't been shot and creator Vince Gilligan is keeping him in the dark — probably because of interviews like this one.

"I don't know, I honestly don't know how it's going to end," Cranston admits. "I don't ask, (Gilligan) doesn't tell me."

Whatever becomes of Walter White, Cranston is at peace with the show drawing to a close.

"I feel good, yes. We will have amassed 62 episodes and I think that's right," he says. "I would always rather end something I'm very proud of a year or two early rather than a year too late. You don't want audiences going, 'Breaking Bad — is that still on the air?' You don't want to hear that. You want to hear, 'Breaking Bad, ah, man, I miss that show.'"

Still, Cranston says viewers should be prepared for a pretty grisly finale — and diehard fans of the show are ready for that.

"It's going to come to a horrible end and they know it," he says. "The people who are really into the show don't care, they've got to go. That's brilliant structure to be able to do that, because you have new people who are following me and I'm doing all these despicable things."

Anxiety, stress forces LeAnn Rimes into rehab

Just after celebrating her 30th birthday, country singer LeAnn Rimes has checked herself into rehab for "anxiety and stress," her rep confirms to People magazine.

"LeAnn has voluntarily entered a 30-day in-patient treatment facility to cope with anxiety and stress," the rep says. "While there will be speculation regarding her treatment, she is simply there to learn and develop coping mechanisms." Rimes herself is looking forward to feeling better after her month in rehab: "All the things in my life will be there when I get out, but you know what? I'm hoping they're not going to affect me as much," she says. "I'll have the tools to know how to deal with them."

And the '90s lived happily ever after

THE WORD

Jennie Garth and Luke Perry are at the center of one of our favourite unsubstantiated rumors of the summer.

The former 90210 costars recently reunited for an Old Navy commercial — and if you believe the National Enquirer, (go on, live a little!) they're still seeing plenty of each other.

"Since seeing Luke again, Jennie has fallen in love with him and Luke feels the same," a source tells the National Enquirer. "There is an electricity between them that has been revived after all these years. It just happened." At the Old Navy shoot, "Luke immediately put his arm around Jennie and they talked like no one else was around," the source adds. On the show, Garth's Kelly infamously made weekly bad decisions with Perry's Dylan. In real life, Garth is in the process of divorcing actor Peter Facinelli, while Perry has been divorced since 2003. Still, Perry's downer of a publicist insists that this doesn't mean they're eternal prom dates: "This story is not true," he tells E! News, as if we're concerned about facts. The moral of the story here: Kelly and Dylan have worked things out after all these years, and there is, indeed, hope and truth in the world after all.

NBA star suing club after Drake-Chris Brown brawl

The fallout from the nightclub brawl between Drake and Chris Brown's entourages continues, with NBA star Tony Parker now suing the club for $20 million over injuries he sustained in the melee, according to TMZ. Parker's suit claims the owners of nightclub W.i.P. should have been aware of the "bad blood" between the two R&B stars. The club owners counter that they can't be expected to keep track of their patrons' personal lives.

Pelau is a one-pot rice dish and a great introduction to Trinidadian cooking. CHRIS DE LA ROSA OF CARIBBEANPOT.COM

A culinary journey to Trinidad and Tobago

Pelau. As the island celebrates its 50th year of independence, try one of its staple dishes

IZABELA SZYDLO
life@metronews.ca

When, in 2009, self-taught chef Chris De La Rosa launched his website, caribbeanpot.com, he wanted to create an archive of recipes from his native Trinidad and Tobago for his daughters.

A few years later, the site has grown into a hub for Caribbean cooking — spawning a YouTube channel and Facebook page. Recently, it was even picked up by two Caribbean TV stations for its own segment.

"There is much more to Caribbean cuisine than jerk chicken, roti and curry goat," says De La Rosa, from Hamilton, Ont. "There is a vast array of food to be found from island to island, depending on which country colonized it."

Trinidadian Pelau is a great introduction. A one-pot rice dish, it is similar to Spanish Paella. "Pelau embodies the true multicultural and multi-ethnic spirit of Trinidad," says De La Rosa. "With coconut milk and meat marinated in fresh herbs and spices, it is the ultimate rice dish."

1. Clean chicken with citrus juice, rinse with water and drain. Season and marinate chicken in bowl with salt, Worcestershire sauce, ketchup, garlic, ginger, onion and tomato, cilantro, black pepper, scotch bonnet pepper, scallion, thyme for at least 2 hours.

2. Heat oil in large pot; add brown sugar. It will start to melt (keep stirring) then go frothy. When it turns amber, add chicken and stir well. Cover pot; cook on medium 10 mins.

3. Rinse peas; wash rice. Remove pot lid and turn up heat to burn off any liquid. Pour rice into pot, then peas, carrots, coconut milk and water.

4. Stir and quickly bring back to boil. Cover pot and allow to simmer 35 minutes or until all liquid absorbed and rice is tender. Add teaspoon of butter.

5. Serve with slice of avocado, tomato and cucumber.

De La Rosa's Tips

Find your way around a Caribbean kitchen.

- Fresh. Achieve authentic flavour with fresh herbs like thyme and cilantro.
- Marinate. A huge part of Caribbean cuisine is marinating meats and fish in fresh herbs and spices.

Ingredients

- 5 lbs chicken drumsticks
- Juice of lemon
- 1 tbsp salt
- 1 tsp each Worcestershire sauce and ketchup
- 2 cloves garlic (thinly sliced)
- 1 tsp grated ginger
- 1 each medium onion and tomato (chopped)
- 2 tbsp cilantro
- 1/2 tsp black pepper
- 1/4 scotch bonnet pepper
- 1 scallion (chopped)
- 3 sprigs fresh thyme
- 2 tbsp vegetable oil
- 1 heaping tbsp golden brown sugar
- 3 cups long grain brown rice
- 1 can pigeon peas
- 1 carrot sliced into coins
- 1 cup coconut milk
- 3 cups water
- 1 tsp butter (optional)

Liquid Assets

Carnival in your glass

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
liquidassets@eastlink.ca

I'm not much of a beach person so my interest in Trinidad and Tobago was lacking until I saw Nicki Minaj's Pound the Alarm music video. Shot on the Caribbean archipelago (she's from Trinidad), its plot is basically Minaj, and a group of equally lovely ladies, celebrating Carnival.

Though a simple premise, I can't wait to learn more — starting with the food. A Caribbean spread is best described as eclectic, influenced by a wide array of international cuisine.

Curries, spices, creamy sauces, meats, rice, veggies and fruit are primary components of the islands' mains — which all equate to a wine pairing nightmare.

Of course, tropical island wine production is non-existent. That's why beer, a shot of local rum or a cocktail is the go-to beverage.

When you're filling your mouth with food loaded with pizzazz, you've got to reach for a refreshing wine with a palate-soothing personality.

It doesn't have to be complex. You may think of the 2011 Black Tower ($8.95 - $11.49) as a redundant German white from your parents' day. Made with the rivaner (a.k.a. müller-thurgau) grape, its juicy flavour and cool limited edition, summertime bottle design have a T&T menu written all over them. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

Pholourie. Trinidadian roadside fave makes a unique appetizer

"Pholourie, fried little balls of split pea flour, is a perfect appetizer, snack or side dish," says Chris De La Rosa of caribbeanpot.com. "However, it is most passionately enjoyed as a quick meal from roadside vendors. The chutneys it is served with truly excite the taste buds."

1. Crush garlic and scotch bonnet pepper to fine paste, add salt; set aside. In large bowl combine flour, baking powder, split peas powder and turmeric. Add garlic and pepper mix and water. Mix thoroughly to form lump-free batter. Allow to sit 30 mins.

2. In deep frying pan, add enough oil to deep fry, turn heat on medium to high. When oil is hot, use a tablespoon to scoop batter into the oil. Use a second spoon to scrape batter off of the original spoon. Don't worry if the first batch turns out deformed in shape, you'll get the hang of it.

3. Pholourie will double in size as it cooks. Using a fork, flip so both sides cook. When fully cooked, they will turn golden brown and float. Remove from oil and place on paper towels to absorb access oil.

4. Serve warm, with mango chutney for which you can find a recipe, at caribbeanpot.com/a-simple-mango-chutney-for-pholourie/

Ingredients

- 1 - 2 cloves garlic
- 1/4 scotch bonnet pepper
- 1 tsp salt
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 tsp baking powder
- 1 cup ground split peas (flour)
- 1 tsp turmeric
- 1 1/3 cups water
- Oil for deep frying

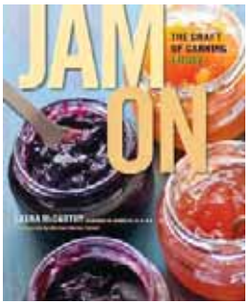
Jamming. Demystifying canning for urban cooks

REBECCA FINKEL
Metro World News in New York



It happens about this time every year. Confronted with a bounty of fresh fruit, we think, "This is the year I make my own jam." But we never do. Whether it's fear of contamination or lack of kitchen space, something always stops us short of, ahem, sealing the deal.

To help quell our fears, we turned to Brooklyn-based jammer Laena McCarthy, founder of Anarchy in a Jar (anarchyinajar.com) and author of the new book "Jam On: The Craft of Canning Fruit."

"I teach a lot of classes, and almost everybody who attends are totally smart, fully capable cooks. But they're terrified that they're going to kill someone if they make jam," she tells us.

"Essentially," she continues, "you cannot kill someone. The pH in fruit is low enough that things like botulism can't grow in that environment."

McCarthy had the advantage of watching her mother make jam from local produce and garden herbs in upstate New York. Her personal technique, she says, is a blend of traditional American and European styles that reduces cooking time as well as the amount of added sugar, "slowly but surely letting the fruit do the work." The result is a fresher-tasting jam that lends itself to both sweet and savory applications.

"Jam On" guides first-time canners through the process of preserving, from choosing raw fruits to creating complex, whiskey-spiked jellies, jams, butters and chutneys.

Ready to jam? McCarthy recommends starting out with her book's "3's Company Triple Berry Jam" recipe.

"It's pretty foolproof," she says. "The berries only cook for a short amount of time, so the whole process is very quick ... it's pretty hard to screw up."

Hot Cheetos and Takis: The taste test

Beats and Rhymes.
Viral video celebrates two popular U.S. snacks

They're salty, starchy and, sadly, not widely available in Canada. But a new viral video called Hot Cheetos and Takis, made by a group of kids out of a Minneapolis North Community YMCA's Beats and Rhymes Program, has taken the Internet by storm. The song is a celebration of two popular snacks south of the border.

And with inspiration from this video, Metro New York went on a hunt to explore every starchy convenience food that comes in a Mylar bag by hitting up a local bodega (convenient store) to find a few varieties of Takis sitting on the shelf.

Here are a few facts about the product. (Note: Americans get Takis, but we get ketchup-flavoured chips and Smarties on our side of the border.)

- Serving Size: 14 pieces
- Servings Per Container: 4
- Calories: 140
- Fat: 8 grams
- First five ingredients: Cornflour, hydrogenated soybean and/or canola and/or Palm and/or Sunflower Oil
- Chip Shape: Corn chip roll-up
- Flavouring: Fuego — Hot chili pepper and lime
- Rating (out of five fingers): Three fingers
- What we thought: The bold flavour of the Takis were roundly appreciated by all who tried them. They were strong — nay, piercing in their heat with a nice, vaguely citrus-y finish.

Those kids in the video must have the palate of a 40-year-old smoker. However, the oily, sticky powder that heavily coats each roll-up made it difficult to eat more than a handful without feeling like we were going to be tossing Takis a moment later.

It's important to note that one bag of Takis is a whopping 4 ounces. It feels heavy in the hand, as compared with a 99-cent Dorito bag. The chip itself is very thick, probably so that they wouldn't be crushed when they are rolled into a tube, but that thickness adds to the overwhelming nature of the Taki.

Put this flavouring on some Bugles, and maybe they'd be interested. While we may not be lifelong fans of the snack itself, we are eternally grateful to Y.N.RichKids for giving us the song of the summer that finally got Call Me Maybe out of our ears. METRO

Four Mistakes that can Cost You on Car Insurance

Keep your rates low by avoiding these costly mistakes.

The cost of car insurance is a major expense for most people, and rising rates often seem unavoidable. But an increase in your premium is not always something you can't avoid. Often, simple errors lead to over-paying for insurance. These four mistakes are the quickest way to see higher premiums.

Earning a traffic ticket. Tickets are one of the most common reasons that insurance rates go up. Many different traffic violations can be responsible for an increase. Speeding, running right lights and careless driving are all violations that result in insurance rates that are higher. It takes three years before the ticket is removed from your driving record.

Not shopping for rates before you buy a new car. People often find themselves shocked by the cost of insurance on their new car, but there's a way to avoid that. Every car comes with a different insurance rating, and some are pricier than others to insure. When you're considering options, get car insurance quotes on each possibility before you make a buying decision.

Failure to shop around at regular intervals. Many people avoid it because they believe it's a hassle, or think they can't get a better rate. This is one expensive mistake. People who take the time to shop around almost always pay less; and with internet quoting sites like InsuranceHotline.com, it's easier than ever.

Failing to take advantage of multi-policy discounts. What do your home and auto insurance have to do with each other? Well, if you insure them all in the same place, it could be quite a lot – of savings that is. Most insurance companies offer a multi-policy discount. If you don't have all of your policies in the same place, you could be missing out on some big savings on all of your policies.

Remember that the very best way to keep your insurance premiums low is to be a safe driver and shop around for better rates. Insurance quoting sites like InsuranceHotline.com can help by comparing your insurance rate against over 30 car insurance companies to find you a lower rate available for your driving profile.

It's not just about saving you money. Wait, it is.

Visit InsuranceHotline.com today and experience a fast, free, and easy service that works for your wallet.

TIFF 2012

It's back, and the star power is glitzier than ever. The Toronto International Film Festival kicks off Sept. 6 and runs through the 16. Mark your calendars, single tickets to shows go on sale Sept. 2. Arguably in the top three of the world's great film fests, this unstoppable force showcases national and international films ranging from indies to blockbusters. And let's not forget all the parties. I'll be bringing you inside some of the best of the Fest.

Just Opened: Glory Hole Doughnuts

A favourite amongst foodies, Glory Hole Doughnuts finally has its own permanent shop at 1596 Queen St. W. Calling these doughnuts gourmet would be an understatement. Flavours range from the traditional (think Cinnamon Sugar and Lemon) to the deliciously outlandish (Granola and Yogurt, Pistachio and Chocolate, and Banana Cream Pie).

Just Opened: Rakia Bar

At 1402 Queen St. E. is where you'll find Rakia Bar, a brand new entry on Toronto's resto/bar scene. Rakia is a fruit distillate (think a fruit brandy) that's common in Eastern Europe. So, not surprisingly, you'll find some amazing different rakias at the bar. To complement the eau-de-vie, you'll find Eastern European share plates and some mains that have a distinctive French influence.

TIFF Overdrive Launch Party

The Drake Hotel's going into Overdrive for TIFF 2012. On Sept. 6, they're launching this retro-inspired thematic across the hotel with a massive party sponsored by Stella Artois and Sailor Jerry. DJs will take over the Underground while guests sip special actor-inspired cocktails and get tattooed up for free at a mobile tattoo shop. 1150 Queen St. W.

JNF Future Party 2012

On Sept. 12 at The Hoxton (69 Bathurst St.) famed DJ Samantha Ronson will be spinning beats and revving up the scene as revellers gyrate during the 2012 Future Party, hosted by JNF. The proceeds from this year's massive event will be used to create "security planting" around the Nir Oz Kibbutz, which borders Gaza.

Fashion Cares 25

On Sept. 9, Fashion Cares 25 will be held at the Sony Centre for the Performing Arts (1 Front St. E.), and will present a dazzling evening of entertainment, fashion, and philanthropy. The AIDS Committee of Toronto and Elton John AIDS Foundation have partnered to make this, the final Fashion Cares event, the most memorable to date, with a spectacular performance by Elton John and Friends in the wings.

THE PERFECT PIXIE

Short hair can be versatile and fun. Exhibit A: Ginnifer Goodwin's modern pixie haircut. It's a great style that shows off her pretty face. Here are three tips for making your short haircut as great as Goodwin's:

1 KNOW YOUR FACE SHAPE: If your face is round, ask your stylist for longer layers on the top and shorter on the sides and back. If your face is long, ask for the reverse.

2 FIND THE RIGHT STYLING PRODUCT: For a slicked back look, smooth damp hair with gel or styling cream and comb into place; for a more textured look try applying pomade to dry hair for a casual, bedhead vibe.

3 GET REGULAR TRIMS: If you let the cut overgrow, you will lose the shape and will have a hard time with styling. – Nadine Sharon Anglin

NOVEL LUXURY

BANANA REPUBLIC'S ANNA KARENINA COLLECTION

As we gear up for the ultimate star-studded party — the Toronto International Film Festival — Banana Republic announces its timely new Anna Karenina-inspired collection. The much-anticipated film, starring Keira Knightley and Jude Law, debuts at TIFF and is set for a wider release Nov. 16.

Curated and styled by the film's costume designer, Jacqueline Durran (who was nominated twice for an Academy Award), the line features pieces for men and women, including polished, feminine looks for her and tailored styles for him.

Taking notes from the film's high-society period, the capsule presents a modern-day collection including alluring embellishments, luxe fabrics, and romantic styles.

"I was given the unique chance to apply my passion for period styles to a collection that translates to fashion today," Durran says.

The range includes statement accessories and apparel fashioned with velvet, faux fur, lace, and a touch of sparkle that embody the style of the era.

The Banana Republic Anna Karenina collection launches in November — just in time for the holidays. Join the conversation on Twitter at #BRAnnaK.

Eberle follows Hall, signs new deal with Oilers

Jordan Eberle and Taylor Hall will continue to be the cornerstones of the Edmonton Oilers.

Eberle agreed to a six-year, $36-million US contract extension with Edmonton on Thursday. The move comes just over a week after Hall, Eberle's roommate, signed a seven-year, $42-million extension with the Oilers.

"Obviously me and Taylor want to be a part of this team for a while," Eberle said during a conference call. "That's why we signed this way.

"I think it signifies the young core of the group wanted to be here."

The five-foot-11, 184-pound Eberle was taken in the first round, 22nd overall, by Edmonton in the 2008 NHL entry draft.

The 22-year-old Regina native has registered 52 goals and 67 assists in 147 games over his two seasons with Edmonton.

Eberle had 34 goals and 42 assists in 78 games last year with the Oilers.

Eberle said both he and Hall spoke often during the respective contract negotiations and it was important to the two stars that they sign deals worth the same on an annual basis.

Things looking up for Raonic at U.S. Open

Tennis. Power-serving Canadian says he's 'getting better and better' after winning 2nd-round match

Another career first for Milos Raonic.

The hard-hitting 21-year-old from Thornhill defeated Frenchman Paul-Henri Mathieu 7-5, 6-4, 7-6 (4) at the U.S. Open on Thursday, firing 30 aces to advance to the third round at Flushing Meadows for the first time in his career.

Raonic played better Thursday than he did in his opening match against Colombia's Santiago Giraldo. The Canadian had to rally from a set down and break to earn the first-round victory.

"I played much better today than in the first round, as far as the basics go," Raonic said. "But I still need to do quite a few things better.

"The two breaks I got, I played good points each time. But I wasn't happy with my return games, I wasn't doing enough with the ball."

Raonic is the first Canadian male to get this far in this event in 24 years. Montreal's Martin Laurendeau reached the fourth round of the U.S. Open in 1988.

The 15th-seeded Raonic needed two hours and 10 minutes to clinch the win. He'll face American James Blake in the third round.

"I do feel good about my game, I'm getting better and better," Raonic said. "I now have two days to get even better."

Retirement

Roddick says he's done after Open

Andy Roddick is ready to walk away from tennis whenever his U.S. Open ends.

The 2003 U.S. Open champion and former No.-1-ranked player surprisingly announced his plans to retire at a news conference at Flushing Meadows on Thursday, his 30th birthday.

"I'll make this short and sweet: I've decided that this is going to be my last tournament," said Roddick.

"I just feel like it's time. I don't know that I'm healthy enough or committed enough to go another year," he said.

TFC's Dunfield to represent Canada against Panama

Soccer. Arguably Toronto FC's best player recently, the Vancouver native 'loves going away and playing' for his country

Terry Dunfield celebrates scoring vs. Houston Dynamo Aug. 25 in Houston. GETTY IMAGES

For a guy who spent much of his career overseas and even played some friendly matches for England's youth sides, Terry Dunfield is all Canadian.

Just ask the game operations officials with the New England Revolution.

Prior to kick off of Toronto FC and the Revolution in Foxborough, Mass., last month, Dunfield noticed that during the singing of O Canada there was no Canadian flag on hand. He was not impressed and said so to the locals.

"He went absolutely berserk," TFC head coach Paul Mariner said with a smile Thursday, recalling the incident before the Reds beat the Revolution 1-0 on July 14. "It may have been an oversight but it certainly fired Terry up.

"He's Canadian through and through and he loves to play for his country."

Dunfield, a 30-year-old Vancouver native who has arguably been TFC's best player since Mariner took over the coaching duties from Aron Winter in early June, was named to Canada's roster Thursday for a pair of crucial World Cup qualifying matches against Panama on Sept. 7 and Sept. 11.

"I love going away and playing for Canada," Dunfield said after TFC finished training at Downsview Thursday ahead of a game at Sporting Kansas City Saturday night. "We've got two tough games coming up and it's great to be a part of it."

Crosby would consider Europe, his agent says

If there's an NHL lockout, Sidney Crosby could head overseas to Europe.

Crosby would at least consider playing in Europe if there's a long lockout in the NHL, Crosby's agent, Pat Brisson, told the Pittsburgh Post Gazette.

"If at one point there's a lockout and the lockout goes long . . . Sidney wants to play hockey," Brisson told the paper. "Of course he would consider alternatives."

Crosby is one of a number of NHL players European teams have inquired about if there's a lockout. Crosby's teammate, Evgeni Malkin, said he would return to the KHL if there is a lockout and suspected Crosby would wait to see if the lockout dragged on.

During the 2004-05 lockout when the season was lost, almost 400 NHLers played in European leagues while others played in the minors or junior hockey.

The league and union were expected to resume negotiations on Friday.

Propane and helium tanks don't belong in recycling or garbage

Even when empty, propane tanks are a dangerous hazardous waste, regardless of supplier claims. Propane cylinders and tanks can explode, cause workplace injuries and damage equipment.

Cylinders and tanks are not collected curbside.
If they can't be refilled, take them to a City Drop-off Depot or Community Environment Day for safe disposal. It is illegal to leave empty propane tanks in a park.

CFL EXTRA POINTS
Dan Toth
toronto@metronews.ca

Buono steps out of line in B.C.; Tillman gets one right in Edmonton; protection could be on the way for Argos' Ray and other musings ahead of CFL Labour Day Weekend clashes

Photos by The Canadian Press/Torstar News Service

Buono's tangent hypocritical

As the CFL's elder statesman, Wally Buono is constantly asked for his opinion on league matters but the Lions GM should sometimes bite his tongue. This week Buono tee'd off on Winnipeg's handling of the Paul LaPolice firing, something Buono would certainly resent if it was his organization that was under fire.

Ring one up for GM Tillman

We've spent plenty of time trashing Esks GM Eric Tillman for trading away QB Ricky Ray in the off-season, but not all his moves were lame. Tillman's signing of 38-year-old backup QB Kerry Joseph, who helped the Esks to a 26-17 win in Toronto after Steven Jyles' was injured on Monday, looks like a sage decision now.

Labour Day losers

The CFL schedule makers could use a little imagination. Calgary always host the Eskimos on Labour Day weekend, with the rematch the following Friday in Edmonton, but then things get weird. The Stamps and Esks meet two more times in the season's final eight weeks, but why not throw in an early season matchup between the rivals and a late-season game to avoid the deja vu?

Ray should get a pass ... for now

Blame Ricky Ray all you want for a 4-4 record and last week's loss to Edmonton in which he threw two picks, but pass protection has become an issue in Toronto. The Argos must hope the signing of offensive lineman Joel Reinders, a top pick in the 2010 Canadian Draft, should eventually help in that area.

All is not lost in Saskatchewan

The gnashing of teeth in Saskatchewan is understandable during a five-game skid, their longest slump since 2005. Worse yet, the 3-5 Riders must go 6-3 from here on to post a .500 record, which won't guarantee a playoff spot. Yet the team is improving (slowly) and signing LBs Joe Lobendahn and Diamond Ferri this week will only make them better.

Burke walks into good situation

Most CFL insiders hate the Paul LaPolice firing, pictured, but the timing is excellent for new head coach Tim Burke. The Bombers should have fragile QB Buck Pierce back next week and back-to-back games against the sliding Roughriders give Burke the best chance to turn around a ghastly situation in the 'Peg.

'Minor details killing us' says Argonauts' Ray

Argos quarterback Ricky Ray speaks with coach Scott Milanovich in Toronto on July 18. RICK MADONIK/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

With the Argos leading Calgary 6-3 two weeks ago, QB Ricky Ray was clicking in the second quarter. He had marched down the field in 13 plays towards the Stampeders' end zone.

Ray got the Argos to the two-yard line and then disaster struck. As Ray lined up, tailback Chad Kackert didn't seem to know where he was supposed to be. Other players also looked confused, eventually costing the Argos a down and a five-yard penalty.

Instead of a touchdown, Toronto had to settle for a short field goal. The Argos still won 22-14, but it was the kind of mistake that has plagued them all season.

Ray has completed a league-leading 197 passes and produced 2,324 yards of offence, third best in the league. Yet the Argos don't seem to be able to punch the ball into the end zone. They've scored a league-low 14 majors. They're the CFL's worst red zone scoring team as they head to Hamilton on Monday to face the Tiger-Cats in the first of back-to-back crucial East Division games.

Ray has thrown only two TD passes in his last 14 quarters, including a 15-yard toss in last Monday's 27-16 loss to Edmonton. It was Toronto's first home loss in four, but Ray was still the target of boos at Rogers Centre.

"The bottom line is we're just not making plays," Ray said. "As boring as it sounds, the minor details are killing us. It comes down to me making the wrong read, a receiver not being in the right split. Or a player missing a block."

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Quoted

"I truly believe by the time we get later in the season we'll be rolling pretty good. But as the coach, I've got to find easier ways for us to score from the red zone."

Argos coach Scott Milanovich

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
Try not to make any rash decisions today, especially if they are likely to affect other people as well as yourself. What is good for you may not be good for a friend or a colleague — or anyone else.

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
Today, under no circumstances should you resort to questionable tactics. Common sense should tell you that sticking to the rules is good business — and if common sense doesn't tell you, the full moon will find a more hurtful way.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
Full moons are never easy to deal with but this one won't damage you too badly. The most important thing is that you find something of a positive nature to focus on and channel your energy into.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
Something that has been bugging you for ages will reach crisis point over the next 24 hours. However, if it involves money, property or investments, you are advised to get expert advice before acting in any way.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
You must not let today's full moon in your opposite sign of Pisces get you down. No matter what happens, there is no reason why you cannot work things out to your benefit. Loved ones need you to be strong.

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
It may get a bit much this weekend and you may well decide to just let fate take its course. That's good. Sometimes it is best to not try too hard. And sometimes it is best to not try at all.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
You are not the sort to resist saying something controversial just because it might hurt other people's feelings, and you'll have plenty to say for yourself today. It might surprise you though how angrily others respond.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
You are at a crossroads and have to decide which turning to take. Before you make that decision, you would be wise to think of your own needs. Don't give up on something simply because others do not approve.

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
Bite your tongue and keep your thoughts to yourself. It may not be easy but if you want the space and the peace you need to complete what you are working on, you must not be critical or sarcastic — for now.

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
This is precisely the wrong time to gamble with what you own and earn. Today's full moon warns you won't know for sure which way the wind is blowing until the early part of next week, so hold fire.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
A full moon in your birth sign means that even if you are the most laid-back Pisces who ever lived you will still be rather emotional today. Scream and shout if you have to — you'll feel better for it. SALLY BROMPTON
